Supra 304 Stainless Steel Clamps

The Supra Stainless Steel Clamp is the Stainless Steel equivalent of the well accepted Supra Ferritic. The band and band arch are composed of AISA-304 Stainless Steel.

Unlike Super, all components are retained when the bolt is removed, thus facilitating ease of use with conventional assembly and automated tools. It has gained acceptance in those application areas where a band of Stainless Steel is required over Plated Carbon Steel or 'Coated' Stainless Steel varieties.

It has bevelled edges to reduce wear and tear to the hose.

The band bridge protects and reinforces the articulated tensioning system. Recommended torque tightening values and working pressures are published and are available.

Applications:

Commonly used in hose assembly manufacturing, agriculture, hydraulics, general engineering, chemical and food processing industries.

Sizes Availab1e:

17-252mm.
