

FlexTop 170

A laptop stand for the entry level and is designed specifically for the use in areas such as the home office or office.

The high-quality, lightweight aluminium sandwich material in the trend colour dark grey with a matt finish, makes it resistant to dents and gives the FlexTop 170 an exclusive look. The flexible height adjustment strap ensures an easy and quick installation of your laptop in one of the seven heights. The Anti-slip feet for a secure stand and a foam lining to protect your device from scratches complete the features of the FlexTop 170. Adjust your laptop screen to the optimum height and viewing angle with the FlexTop 170. More visual comfort, a better posture, and the best comfort for you when you are working on the computer.

Ergonomic background

The laptop is not suitable for longer use without external equipment. If the laptop is used for more than two hours at a time, external devices are required to meet legal and best practice requirements. To be able to work comfortably and productively with a laptop for a long time, a laptop stand, an external mouse and an external keyboard are indispensable. If you use an external monitor and place the laptop screen at the same height, both can also be used as a dual screen.
